

SPINNIN'

(Copyright 1991, Dennis McBride)

I was thinking I could never win,
 But then I found a yo-yo and I began to spin
Round and round and up and down,
 Oh what a sight to see
Now I understand the magic it can be, the magic it can be.

I'm spinnin', spinnin' every night and day,
 Spinnin' all my cares away,
Doin' the tricks that are sure to bring a smile.
 Spinnin', spinnin' and I'm feelin' fine
'Cause spinnin' does it every time.
 Come on along and spin for awhile.

Friends would tell me, "Don't you be a fool.
 Playin' with a yo-yo isn't very cool."
But pretty soon they changed their tune
 And now you'll hear them say,
They can't get enough of spinnin' every day, spinnin' every day.

They're spinnin' . . .

If you're up tight and tryin' to unwind
 Grab yourself a yo-yo and soon you're gonna find,
This little toy will bring you joy
 It's such a wondrous thing
Then you too will want to lift your voice and sing, lift your voice and sing.

About spinnin' . . .

DARE TO DREAM - DARE TO DO

(Copyright 1997, Dennis McBride)

Dare to dream, dare to do.
 Put feet to your dreams; help your dreams come true.
Give it your best, the best you can do.
 When you give it your best, the winner is you!

You've only begun, to be all you can be,
 So look at your dreams, tell me what do you see?
If they're good and they're right, if they're really worthwhile,
 You have nothing to fear, go ahead with a smile.
You can do it, so do it. Go on, get to it!

But what if you try, and what if you fall?
 Or what if you're weary from giving your all?
Well, don't you give up, and don't you give in.
 Just pick yourself up and then try it again.
You can do it, so do it. Go on, get to it!
